Bury Him with His Niggers

[From the [illegible] Argus.]

One of the [illegible] appointments [illegible] during the late civil war was Robert G. Shaw of Massachusetts. He was a young man of very [illegible] attainments [illegible] higher motive [illegible] principle and right than personal ambition. Other young men [illegible] command [illegible] but none of these [illegible] stands [illegible] on the roll of military fame [illegible] Shaw. [illegible] Colonel Shaw [illegible] carried the musket in the ranks [illegible] worldly honor with Shaw [illegible] prominence [illegible] Other officers [illegible] that followed [illegible] their blood.

Colonel Shaw commanded the 54th Massachusetts colored regiment. He, like others, defied the prejudices of class and race and consented to command a regiment of colored men. Colored soldiers, at that time, were offensive to the great mass even in the North, and a regiment of colored soldiers from Massachusetts was doubly hateful to the Confederates. Nigger soldiers were con[illegible] and from the South, and how could the chivalry withstand such soldiers from that hateful Yankee State. But the fact that Colonel Shaw fought with negro troops from New England did not weave the chaplet that encircled his brow. What gave origin to the thought of a cenotaph to commemorate his memory? Colonel Shaw fell like hundreds of others at Fort Wagner and the siege of Richmond, but there was nothing remarkable in the fact that he [illegible] as hundreds of other brave soldiers perished. But his glory originated in an order intended to be his disgrace. When General Hagood of the Confederate army gave orders for the burial of the colored soldiers on the field of battle, he added in reference to Colonel Shaw, "Bury him with his niggers." The indignity intended by this order touched the sympathies of freemen, and added fame to the name of the deceased soldier. Colonel Shaw had died in defense of a great principle, not for the social equality of whites and blacks, and the malice and gall in the spirit of the order was returned ten fold to its author and his wicked cause. The indignity intended to be heaped upon the remains of the dead soldier fired the hearts of other brave white men to peril their lives for the Union. To complete the dramatic perfection of this incident of the war, when it was proposed to remove the body of Colonel Shaw from Morris Island, and the "niggers'" grave, his father objected. It was then proposed to raise a monument over the pit where the Colonel and his soldiers lay, but this was finally abandoned on account of the exposed portion of the island to the sea and the danger of vandal hands. Such a monument, it was believed, would not stand long on the "sacred soil." A monumental subscription which had been raised among the colored regiments was entrusted to a board of trustees, who finally appropriated the money to the building of a school house in Charleston, South Carolina, which is called the "Shaw Free School." The school has five hundred scholars, and is taught by Arthur Summer and seven assistants, all commissioned by the "New England Branch of the Freedmen's Union Commission." What a conflagration a spark kindles!

The malice engendered towards whites and the brutality exercised by the confederates toward the negroes, after the Government began to employ them, tended to advance the work of conquering the rebellion. After the surrender, the disposition of the Southern people, constantly manifested to avoid the penalties of the war, contributed much to maintain the reconstruction acts of Congress. The Republican party would have failed to pass one of its "extraordinary" laws by a two-thirds majority but for the bad temper and bad faith repeatedly manifested by the South. It seems as if there had been a Providence overruling all.

Home Barbarism

[From the S. F. Bulletin.]

When a mob of Chinese in their own country molest some English or American sojourner, or go to the extreme of driving him from their midst, they are regarded as barbarians; a gunboat or two is sent to demand reparation at the mouth of shot-guns; and if reparation is refused the town which shelters the offenders is destroyed without more ado. We are bound by treaty, as well as by our pretenses of superior civilization and humanity, to accord the Chinese in the United States the same protection and toleration which we exact for our own people when abroad. But we often repudiate than heed the obligation, and the Chinese Government is unable to retort the tactics of summary coercion which the superior race is so ready to practice. Its citizens are daily assaulted without provocation in our streets, and the ruffians are seldom arrested. Lately, at Unionville, Nevada, an illegal association has driven from that place all the Chinese residing there, without regard to their rights of property and domicil. It is cowardly and disgraceful to permit such treatment of a race from whom we are asking and expecting so much for ourselves. Were this treatment retaliated upon Americans in China, [illegible] look their violations of the rights of the despised and helpless under the name of Christian civilization. It is high time that the authorities used the power they possess to punish such wretches, who are a reproach to the American name.

Goethe tells the following story, which amusingly illustrates the capacity for drink of the Rhinelanders:

The Bishop of Mayence once delivered a sermon against drunkenness, and, after painting in the strongest colors the evils of over-indulgence, concluded as follows: "But the abuse of wine does not exclude its use, for it is written that wine rejoiceth the heart of man. Probably there is no one in my congregation who cannot drink four bottles of wine without [illegible] disturbance of his senses; but if any man at the seventh or eighth bottle so forgets himself as to abuse and strike his wife [illegible] treat his best friends as enemies, let him look into his conscience and in future always stop at the sixth bottle. [illegible] after drinking eight or even ten or twelve bottles [illegible] can still take his Christian neighbor [illegible] by the hand and obey the orders of his spiritual and temporal superiors, let him thankfully drink his modest draught. He must be careful, however, as to taking any more, for it is seldom that [illegible] gives any one the special grace to drink sixteen bottles at a sitting, as it has enabled me, its [illegible] worthy servant, to do without either neglecting my duties or losing my temper."

UNDER THE SEA.—The greatest depth that [illegible] which a diver can descend with the present appliances in safety is [illegible] hundred and sixty feet, and for this a [illegible] of two hundred pounds weight must be [illegible] posed [illegible] all his person. The [illegible] depth at which he can work [illegible] ninety feet, which is near the depth at which the Royal George was conducted. In water from sixty to seventy feet deep the [illegible] can work for two hours at a time, [illegible] ten minutes' rest, [illegible] day's work of [illegible] seven hours.

PACIFIC PRINTS.—According to Langley's Almanac there are 103 newspapers of all sorts in California, 21 in Oregon, 10 in Nevada and 8 in Washington Territory.

California Antiquities—Ancient Giants

It might be interesting to record certain revelations that have been made [illegible] in the eastern part of this State [illegible] enterprise. [illegible] variety of fossil remains [illegible] Tuolumne Historical Society. [illegible] Dr. Peter Snell, who [illegible] eighty years [illegible] and whose whole life has been spent in the development of American antiquities.

Some of the human fossils found in Tuolumne county were of gigantic proportions, and so well preserved that there can be no possible question [illegible] parts of human beings [illegible] on earth. The most interesting of these remains were found on [illegible] Creek. [illegible] They consisted of the [illegible] of a human being whose stature [illegible] must have been at least eight or nine feet high. Their silent testimony is that this country was once inhabited by a race of [illegible] people, or at least a race some [illegible] no longer possible [illegible] this region was formerly inhabited by monstrous animals which are now extinct from the earth, or, at any rate, that it has been the place of their burial. There are in the Sonora collection in perfect form and preservation, the bones of the Fossil Elephant, a creature now extinct and which was of twice the dimensions of the elephant now existing. There are, also, the thigh bones of the Mastodon, a smaller animal, but yet larger than any living creature known to the naturalists of this time. Also, the bones of the Great Hyena, extinct likewise, together with many more gigantic remains which have been exhumed in that county within the past fifteen years. They are all tangible witnesses from ages of unknown antiquity to which the mind runs only in bewildered imagination. It seems reasonable that once beasts of such wondrous size had existence in that long gone and inscrutable time there were human beings constructed on a like of grandeur—that the proportions of nature were then observed as now. That there were, the ancient graves reveal—sepulchres not made with hands, but formed in the convulsions of the earth in the times of her travail and trouble, when the created waters rolled over these pleasant valleys, and the mountains tossed their fiery spray to the clouds.

The human remains found under Table Mountain in 1855 consist of an immense jaw-bone, entire, including many of the teeth, likewise the two thigh bones of a man perfectly preserved. They were found on the bed rock three hundred and fourteen feet vertically from the surface, and nearly half a mile from the horizontal entrance of the tunnel. The thigh bones of a man of ordinary stature are about fifteen inches long, sometimes a little more. The under jaw of this skeleton is five and a half inches at the widest place and is immensely strong. That of a common sized man now is three and a half inches at the same place of measurement. Dr. Snell considers that the frame of which these remains were a part, must have been more than eight, perhaps nine feet in stature. Here, therefore, without entering the realms of speculation, we have tangible proof, demonstrated by compass and rule, that a human being more than eight feet high, once strode about those parts, and at a period contemporary with the formation of Table Mountain, found a grave three hundred and fourteen feet deep, where he slept in profound oblivion until the stalwart miner smote open his rocky sepulchre. Who will prove that he was not asleep there when Adam was making love to the blushing Eve amid the groves of Paradise?

Together with and near these human remains, were found other interesting antiquities. Stone implements—one probably used as a handle for a bow, hollow on one side to fit the weapon, and convex on the other to give the hand a better grasp. Also, a pipe of fine workmanship, and a scoop or ladle made of soap-stone, with a well formed handle. Probably the giant had returned from a hunt, laid down his bow, and was preparing his meal when some wrathful Odin over threw Table Mountain and created for him the profoundest of graves! A small ornament about the thickness of a half dollar and composed of the hematite of iron—an exceedingly hard substance—was found close by. It seems to have been designed as a sort of medal, was grooved round the edge to admit a thong or string, and had a hole in the centre which had been filled with red cinnebar, probably to be used as paint. What makes this trinket worth mention is the fact of the mineral's extreme hardness, and the difficulty of its construction with tools likely to be in the possession of savages. In pursuing their work the miners encountered large trees petrified and standing as they had grown in the forest. Some originally pine and oak had now changed to carbon, and afterwards petrified, but the most were silicified to pure flint.

Amid this flinty forest our giant was entombed, and over him the motionless stony brow has had hung, we suppose, when "the morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy."

THE USE OF SPARROWS.—A writer in Once a Week says of these useful little birds:

Mr. Edward Wilson, whose labors in the department of acclimatization are universally recognized, and to whom, if I mistake not, Australia owes its sparrows, has ascertained that no less than fourteen hundred cockchafers' wings have been found below the nest of one pair of sparrows. Each female insect produces about forty grubs, which burrow for three years in the ground, preying upon the crops during this time to an enormous extent. As many as one hundred thousand of those grubs have been found on one acre of land, and as each acre will grow about forty thousand mangolds or turnips there are about three grubs to each root! In some years the damage done by this single insect in France alone has been estimated at the astounding sum of £40,000,000! A very simple calculation shows that simply in feeding their young a single pair of sparrows annually prevent the production of fourteen thousand grubs; and the account in favor of the birds is [illegible] complete, for sparrows by no means restrict themselves to cockchafers even when these [illegible] are in season, but will eat almost any kind of insect or grub that comes in its way.

Mr. Wood, in his "Illustrated Natural History," 1862, says that a single pair of these birds were once watched for a day, and were seen to carry to their young no less than forty grubs per hour. Such labors as these are not to be disregarded. Let a somewhat stout farmer, especially if he is dressed in the orthodox style of top boots and rather tight clothing about the girths, attempt to bring home 40 grubs in an hour, and we are much mistaken if at the end of that time he does not feel a greater respect for the sparrows. Wherever the sparrows and other small birds have been exterminated, the crops have been destroyed by the consequent increase of insects, and in several cases the same government which ordered the destruction of birds have been compelled to revoke their law and issue orders for their protection. The balance of nature cannot be [illegible] interfered with by blind mortals without [illegible] consequences.

ANCIENT BRITAIN.—The earliest allusion to Great Britain which we find is in Herodotus (B. C. 444), in which he mentions the Scilly Isles as a place from which tin was obtained. Aristotle, a hundred years later, mentions England and Ireland under the names Albion and Ierne. Polybius (B. C. 160) mentions the British Isles in connection with tin. Strabo (B. C. 40) gives something of the geography of the islands, and he quotes from a previous writer, Pytheas, who had traveled England [illegible] certain [illegible] which [illegible] are suspended and [illegible] found of all things being [illegible] by travel [illegible] sailing. [illegible] explained by some writers by [illegible] half melted and amassed ice [illegible] found about the Scilly Islands [illegible] Caesar, B. C. 55, we must [illegible] particular accounts of Britain at that period.

MINNESOTA.—The population of Minnesota, it is asserted, now amounts to 420,000 souls, an increase of 70 per cent. in three years [illegible] State census [illegible] 1865. This would [illegible] per cent every [illegible] the population of the preceding year, and 144 per cent at the end of two years. At this rate Minnesota, it is estimated, will have a population of 600,000 in 1870, when the next United States census is taken.

Farm Items

A peck of grapes will yield a gallon of wine.

Big [illegible] look best when draped with [illegible] grape vines.

Deep stirring, slight manuring, late planting, constant hoeing, will make melons.

Iron and sulphur given to certain cows now will make veal cheaper next spring.

Buying pork at 10 cents, paying for it by selling corn at 40, results, a sheriff's sale.

If the lightest running plow were used to the exclusion of all others it would save the farmers of this country $8,000,000 a year.

Nature can best produce living forms with what has been alive. This is the essence of the doctrine of progression in the manures.

Ninety in a hundred of pear trees set out for the last ten years have produced nothing; pears are dearer now than they were five years ago.

Every part feeds a part. Hence put the droppings of grain fed animals on corn and wheat fields, of hay fed animals on grass lots, and the droppings of forests on orchards.

Valuable Hints Concerning Kerosene—A Remedy for Severe Burns

[From the Springfield Republican.]

Scarcely a week passes during the winter months, but we read accounts of frightful accidents from kerosene lamps exploding and killing, or scarring for life, men, women and children. A simple knowledge of the inflammable nature of the fluid would probably put a stop to nearly all the accidents. As the oil burns down in the lamp a highly inflammable gas gathers over its surface, and as the oil decreases the gas increases. When the oil is nearly consumed a slight jar will often inflame the gas, and an explosion is sure to follow, dealing death and destruction. A bomb-shell is not more to be dreaded. Now, if the lamp is not allowed to burn more than half way down, such accidents are impossible. Always fill your lamps every morning, then you never need fear an explosion.

Great economy can be practiced in regard to the wicks. There is usually one-third of the wick wasted. By sewing one wick to this unburnt end and inserting the [illegible], i. e., the small piece, into the lamp tube, you can burn much more of it; but be sure to take it out before the part that joins the wick enters the tube. Now, turn the wick on the other edge and burn down to the joined edges. Thus a saving on both wicks is secured. To be sure the saving is small, but the old adage is very true, "A penny saved is a penny earned."

Half a teaspoonful of salt added to the oil of a lamp which holds a pint will take away the disagreeable odor sometimes apparent, and it is said prevent the formation of that dangerous gas. It is a simple remedy, easily applied. It is also asserted that the salt makes the oil last much longer, but we have only hearsay evidence concerning it.

Kerosene is the best antidote for a severe burn or scald. Immerse the injured part in cold water for a moment, dry it with soft cloth, taking care not to rub at all. Then bathe in kerosene, and the terrible pain soon ceases. We know of a little child who put his foot and leg in a pail of nearly boiling water. The above remedy was applied and in a few moments the child's screams ceased. We know not of the philosophy of the matter, but we do know that it is the most efficacious remedy for severe burns or scalds in the materia medica.

LETTER FROM GEN. WOOL.—The following letter from Gen. Wool is taken from the Troy Whig, Dec. 19:

To the Editor of the Troy Whig:—

SIR: In the Whig this morning you remarked, "It is known that Gen. Washington, who kept an accurate account of his expenses, spent about $30,000 a year while he was Commander-in-Chief of the army." By a certified copy before me of the account current of his expenditures, made by the General himself, including eight years from 1775 to 1783, both inclusive, it appears that he received to pay his expenses incurred, £16,311 17s. 1d. lawful money, amounting to a little [illegible] one-third of the sum you have stated. To this, I would correct another error relating to G. Washington, which I have seen published in several newspapers, that is, that he was a Lieutenant General and not a General, while he was Commander-in-Chief of the army. He was appointed Commander-in-Chief of the army during the revolutionary war, with the rank of General, and held that rank until the end of the war. Under President Adams, General Washington was appointed a Lieutenant General of the army, but soon after corrected in consequence of his having held during the revolutionary war the rank of General.

In presenting the above facts my object is simply to correct historical errors.

Very respectfully,
JOHN E. WOOL.

Troy, Dec 18th 1868.

The Necrology of 1868 presents few illustrious names, if we consider that it is the whole world which contributes to those mournful lists. Every heart knoweth its own bitterness, and this sheet will come to hundreds of homes where the year 1868 will evermore remain the saddest and best remembered of all the years of the world. What do bereaved friends reck of statesman, poet or warrior counted among the dead of 1868? To those who have such personal griefs to mourn, it may seem almost heartless to [illegible] at the [illegible] which the world has sustained in the death of its great men. And indeed but few of these have gone this year, while of the most illustrious, hardly one died in the prime of manhood; hardly one has been stricken down in the heat of the contest; hardly one fell with the eyes of the world upon him and in the glory of his days. Not one leader has fallen in the fight. Those who have perished, have gone in the ripeness of years, perhaps past influence and usefulness, even in the decay of their powers. Buchanan and Stevens from among us; Brougham and Brewster and Milman and Kean in England; Rothschild and Rossini and Berryer were men whose work was done, and whose deaths left no woeful gaps in the ranks of the living. Berryer, indeed, died in harness and with the sounds of battle in his ears, but it was the generous self devotion of the aged warrior who hastens to the field to give an example of antique valor. Not for a long time has there been a year in which so few great men have died, or in which the illustrious dead were taken so uniformly from the lists of the disabled and the retired. So much for the world renowned men.

HAD HIM THERE.—It is stated that an Irishman called upon a disciple of Esculapius, and informed him that his wife was sick and required medical aid. The M. D. was willing to give his attention to the case, but desired the man to pay in advance or enter into agreement to pay when his services were no longer needed.

"An' ye'll kill or cure for twenty dollars?"

"[illegible] that."

"Yes."

Pat was satisfied and left the M. D. to perform the contract. The woman died, and in due time he presented his bill.

Pat looked at it a moment, and then asked:

"An' did yez cure her?"

"No," answered the physician.

"An' did yez kill her?"

This was a poser, and the M. D. discovered that Pat had caught him. The bill at last accounts had not been settled.

"Aunty," said a sentimental niece to a bereaved widow, "now you are prosperous and well to do, let us get some pretty tombstone for good Uncle Daniel; you know he has none at his grave." Aunt [illegible] lifted up her hands and [illegible] this touching expression: "Jane, if they want anything of Daniel at the Judgment, they can find him without a guide board. I tell you he will be there in time."

A newspaper in Cleveland having advertised that they would send a copy of their paper gratis for one year to the person sending them a "club" of ten, received the ten spot of clubs from a young lady in the country.

The Columbia River

A [illegible] capitalist of San Francisco in a communication addressed to a gentleman in this city discusses the matter of shipping Oregon produce direct from the Columbia river to foreign ports and concludes that there are great difficulties in the way. He says the impression is that the depth of water will not accommodate a class of vessels that will pay. The insurance companies doing business in San Francisco will not allow a vessel drawing over fourteen feet to enter the Columbia river without vitiating the policy and vessels of that capacity are too small as he thinks, to make long voyages with profit. He says he should have no hesitation in sending vessels here to load directly for distant ports if he could get them to come but that he cannot conceive that he will be successful until it is demonstrated by our people first, that there is enough water and second, that the charges and expenses as pilotage and towage can be obtained at reasonable rates and without delay The writer is a gentleman of candor, and we have no doubt that he states fairly the impression which exists in San Francisco in regard to this matter

Now we believe that it can and will be demonstrated to the commercial world that vessels of sufficient capacity to make profitable voyages can load in this river. But our interests in this regard have strangely neglected by our own people. We have preferred to let San Francisco manage matters to suit her own convenience, instead of trying to do anything for ourselves There is no longer any question about vessels of the largest class being able to cross the bar at the mouth of the river, and for a long time, as is well known here, vessels large enough for direct trade have had no difficulty in reaching Portland But the impressions which were formed abroad many years ago in regard to the Columbia river still remain, which is not strange when we consider the manner in which our trade has been carried on.

In the communication we have mentioned the writer alludes to our strange apathy in not providing a powerful tug as an auxiliary to our commerce He says we should have a tug which could not only go outside, but which could, if necessary, carry a large portion of the cargo to a point where full loading is practicable. Notwithstanding the difficulties which he thinks are in the way, it is his opinion that we might provide such facilities for shipping as would cause our produce to bring prices very near those ruling at San Francisco, while freights would also come in at reduced rates, thus effecting a large reduction of charges both ways

Although the new survey has demonstrated that the entrance to the Columbia river is as good as that of many of the principal harbors in the world, the writer says there is still a perfect dread of it An outside tug would soon remove this fear and show that there is no real difficulty in entering the river Until this is effected, there seems to be little probability that our trade can be directed in the channel it ought to [illegible]

Resumption

If the problem of "returning to specie payments" only involved a consideration of the method by which the Government is to resume, the whole question would find a comparatively quick and easy solution. Then the method suggested by a correspondent, whose communication is given in another column, might possibly suffice, but as resumption by the Government is only a small part of the problem, the plan suggested would, in our judgment, be entirely inadequate, and would lead to great financial disasters. The Treasury might, by hoarding coin, by borrowing and by other appliances, obtain specie enough to redeem the greenbacks and put the business of the country on a specie basis, but no one can estimate the extent of the financial disasters which would inevitably and immediately ensue.

The aggregate of private debts throughout the country much exceeds the amount of the national debt. The debtors now owe thousands of millions for property which, when purchased, was valued by the currency standard When the Government redeems its paper currency and pays coin, the debtor class will be compelled to pay coin also They will be under the necessity of paying about one-third more than they equitably owe, which would inflict losses on them that could not be borne. A general crash, with all its attendant disasters, would follow It is easy to see that this consequence would be unavoidable. Immediate resumption, then, is a practical impossibility The country must devise some way to work back gradually to the sure foundation of specie transactions

The main fault of the plan suggested by our correspondent is this It leaves out of consideration the debtor class, and gives no time for the adjustment of general business to a specie basis. It is generally agreed among the financiers of the country that any plan which merely looks to the resumption of specie payments by the Government and does not grapple with the far more difficult problem of adjusting the business of the country to the new order of things, is far too limited in its scope to be of much practical value, The greater question is not, "How shall the Government resume?" but, How shall the debtor class resume? The first problem is a an easy one when compared with the latter

INTERESTING DISCLOSURE — "Lost Cause" Pollard a high Democratic authority states in a recent magazine article that the secret documents of the Southern Confederacy, containing voluminous correspondence implicating Northern Democrats in assisting the rebels, were sent out of Richmond before the capture of the city and are now in a place of safety where they are not to be disturbed during the present generation Had these documents been captured by our Government the leaders of the Democratic party in the North would have been in a delightful fix If Pollard's word is worth anything his statement is only another proof of the treason of the Northern allies of the rebellion

THE CHINA STEAMSHIP LINE The American and China steamship line made ten trips from San Francisco to China during the year 1868, averaging twenty eight days and twenty one hours from the former to the latter port These vessels carried away $6 713 672 in treasure and 4 033 passengers, together with [illegible] tons of freight at twelve dollars per ton Returning they made nine trips from Hongkong to San Francisco, averaging twenty nine days and twenty-two hours each and bringing [illegible] 061 passengers and 11 93[illegible] tons of freight The money received for freight and passage amounted to $804,260. The price of cabin passage was $300, and of steerage for Chinese, $40.

Pacific Coast Ship Building.

The Commercial Herald of San Francisco in its general review of the commercial progress of the Pacific coast during the past year remarks with surprise that in the document lately issued by the Treasury Department relative to the ship building interests of the United States, no allusion is made to the vast forests standing in primeval integrity upon the Pacific coast and furnishing the very best timber for naval architecture Nor are our almost illimitable resources for many kindred uses taken into consideration Sheltered coves and small safe harbors abound along the coast of Washington Territory where the forests grow close to the shores Pitch, tar turpentine and rosin are supplied in profusion by those forests the great size of the trees furnish timber for ships of any required tonnage iron and copper are abundant hemp and flax thrive in our soil the climate permits out door work all the year round spars of the finest quality are cheap and plentiful wages are somewhat higher, but the depreciated cost of materials more than counterbalance this item Several first-class vessels have been turned out here the past year at two-thirds what it would have cost to construct them of poorer materials in the Eastern States These facts are known and being availed of by our merchants and ship builders, and the purchase of Eastern built vessels has about ceased in this section of the Union Our ship building interests made good progress throughout the past year Our yards were well employed, and a number of excellent vessels constructed at various points in Puget Sound This industry is destined to become of leading importance, and will enable our Pacific possessions to do the carrying trade of this ocean

LOOKING TO AMERICA A petition has been presented to Congress from fifteen hundred poor people of Stockholm, Sweden, praying Congress to adopt some measures by which they can be enabled to come to this country We do not know what relief Congress can afford, but the proposition goes to show, and that very conclusively, the longing desire on the part of the oppressed of Europe to reach our free land People of other lands know the blessings that are in store for them on reaching America, and the petition laid before Congress is but a fore-runner of numbers our national Legislature is sure to receive if the paper is favorably acted upon What a happy thought it must be for the people of Europe to know that through the Providence of God our nation has been spared to shield and protect them, can they but be permitted to reach our shores

PROPOSED ANNEXATION — Gov. Smith of Alabama recently appointed Commissioners to Florida to negotiate for the annexation of the Western portion of that State to Alabama The movement is undertaken by order of the Alabama Legislature, and is said to be extensively supported in Florida The Pensacola (Fla.) Commercial exhorts "no man to throw an obstacle in the way, but put his shoulders to the wheel, and ere long we will be where nature intended us, in the State of Alabama"

STATE ITEMS.

G. Webster has purchased the Roseburg Ensign and will hereafter be the proprietor and editor of that paper.

James Walton of Douglas county has invented a machine for pressing and tying fleeces of wool The operation is performed with ease and rapidity A patent has been applied for.

The Douglas county Educational Association held its annual meeting at Wilbur on the 8th inst Almost every principal county in the State now has an association of this kind

A correspondent of the Corvallis Gazette, (Good Templar's organ) says "the Maine liquor law (Prohibition) has had its ups and downs, but I have never yet seen why it should not succeed except it be because men will drink." The writer has hit the reason exactly Men will drink This is the practical fact, deplorable as it is

The Jacksonville Reveille says Fires are constantly kept burning through all the streets and on the premises of nearly every citizen of the town. Pitchwood is furnished by the authorities while old leather, rubber, sulphur, &c., are added to the fires, from which dense volumes of smoke ascend and hang like a dark pall over the afflicted town. The object is to disinfect the atmosphere and it is the prevailing opinion that good results will come Then bring on the pitch! Keep up the fires, and make this a city of smoke, so long as the contagion continues.

Speaking of the proposed navigation of Long Tom the Eugene Journal says "We are glad that this step has been taken. If boats get to running on the Long Tom, and the inhabitants of that famous locality do not all leave when they hear the first whistle, they may probably get their eyes opened and their understandings strengthened so that they can conceive of something more than the Democratic idea that the world is flat, and may find out that the rebellion was squelched some time ago, and when they get up with the times Democracy will begin to decay and will continue to do so in proportion to the increase of improvement and advancement of the country"

The following communication is published in the Roseburg Ensign "The case of Mr Hyman Abrahams which has been carefully reported at different times by yourself, is in no fair way of recovery, though a different impression has gone abroad. It was supposed that an excision of the nerve at the extremity of the stump, which had become implicated in the cicatrix, would remove the spasms, and at the same time the pains experienced by the patient. This most severe operation by Dr. Grube failed in the object desired Re-amputation below the knee was then supposed to be necessary, but by waiting till the following day, a different conclusion was arrived at. It was then resolved to make a sub-cutaneous division of the tendon peroneus longus muscle which was performed by Dr Carpenter, and though the spasms partially subsided, the excessive pains appear to exist as much as before the operation From Mr Abrahams' feelings he does not seem to be relieved from his sufferings, and altogether, this seems to be a most remarkable case in surgical history"

POLITICAL RINGS —The St Louis Democrat, 27th ult, has an article, headed "Grant vs Rings" which is introduced by the following significant sentence "The rebel smasher is about to become the ring smasher" It also says

Grant has a hard fight before him He drove rebels out of Richmond but to drive plunderers out of Washington is another job altogether The entrenchments are powerful as Grant knows But the people have chosen him to protect their interests to give us an honest and economical administration He will do his best to serve the people in Washington as he did before Richmond But the people must sustain him, or he will fail And to sustain him they must begin to understand that men who have been most active or noisy for party are not always the most disinterested when they reach Washington We have been giving attention almost exclusively for years to the rebellion and its consequences We have elected many men at most wholly because of their position on that issue Some of them are statesmen and some are not. Some are honest men and some—we may as well admit—care for nothing but their own interests It will very soon happen that some Republican Senators and members of Congress will begin to fight Grant And the people will then know what strength the Washington rings can command, and must be prepared to discard any man, of either party, who tries to defeat the President in his attempts to cleanse the Augean Stables

Crocusses planted in a garden soil require no further care, but grow better year by year The best varieties are Cololene, Chisholm White, Cloth of Gold, Vraght, dark blue; Samson, light blue; Yellow Dutch, for later yellow; Scotch, for early white.

"Specie Payments"

PORTLAND, Jan 26 1869

EDITOR OREGONIAN

I have felt much interest in the question that is being so generally discussed and ventilated at the present time viz the return to specie payments Having given much thought and attention to the subject I have figured to the satisfaction of my own mind, a way of solving the difficulty and feeling confident as I do of the success of my plan if adopted, I have the curiosity to discover if there are others who may think with me I therefore take the liberty of submitting for your consideration my idea of the means by which the desired end may be accomplished viz

1st That the United States make a coin loan, in amount equal to the issue of legal tenders, the last payable in five years

2d Having effected this loan for every legal tender received in the payment of taxes, substitute a like amount of coin from the "coin loan" and pay the debts of the United States in coin

The working of the plan would result in the U S Treasurer holding all of the legal tenders before the end of three years, and the circulating medium would be reduced to coin and national bank notes The national bank notes are receivable for all dues to the government and are also redeemable by the banks, the government could demand redemption of all national bank notes paid for taxes, through any of its many agents The banks would find redemptions a feature in banking business for which they are not prepared, and a majority of them will be "wound up"

The country would be on a firm specie basis there would be a necessity for an increase in our currency, and the government could then gradually issue coin notes, in the place of the legal tenders held for the payment of the "coin loan" By this plan, the government would take the initiatory steps towards "specie payments," and in so doing would injure none, being the first to pay out coin and only taking coin in payment of taxes when there is no other currency

When the national banks were established, all other banks of issue were taxed out of existence, if under the working of this plan, the national banks were only required to redeem, they could not in reason find fault, or say they never expected to redeem

The annual debt of the government would be for those five years, increased by the amount of interest on the "coin loan;" that increase would be more than compensated by the increased revenue arising from the increase in the health and stability of business through the country

The business men of the country would be relieved from that fear of fluctuation which so contracts the business of the present time, and feeling assured of a sound basis would, with security extend their branches in a prosperous and healthy growth

Trusting that you will not consider the above altogether "moonshine," I remain,

Very respectfully,

E R MEARS

Idaho Matters

[From the Idaho Statesman Jan 16]

Governor Ballard has most gloriously outgeneraled the Legislative Council at this session in the way of appointments for the Territorial officers Jealousies, animosities and personal aspirations among the members of the Council raged so fiercely and rankled so deeply that an agreement by them upon a candidate for Treasurer was out of the question It was generally supposed that the Governor and Council having an equal voice in the appointment of Controller and Treasurer, that the Governor would choose one of those officers and the council the other and that both would be confirmed But the causes just mentioned kept the Council from any agreement whatever up to a late hour on Thursday night The time was then past when they could abolish the offices, as was done three years ago, or to do any other mischief, if they were disposed to do it It therefore lay in the power of the Governor to nominate a Republican for each of those offices, and the Democratic Council might confirm them or suffer the present incumbents, both Republicans, to hold over But the Governor did not choose to take advantage of a disarmed political foe, particularly as the members of the Council as well as any number of lobbyists, had caused the impression to be widely circulated that the Council would confirm a Republican for Controller and any Democrat of good character the Governor might name for Treasurer Hoping they would come to some agreement among themselves the Governor withheld the nominations until within 26 hours before the close of the session and then sent in the name of Daniel Cram for Controller and G W Paul for Treasurer After a prolonged executive session the Council rejected Mr Paul and it is variously reported either rejected Mr Cram or laid his nomination on the table for further consideration However the case may be with Mr Cram, the Council came to a dead lock on the confirmation of Mr Paul and thus matters stand at the present writing We do not propose to take a hand in the family quarrel thus developed in the harmonious party We leave it for the organs to make or refute the charges of dishonesty corruption and bad faith which are so broadly hinted at in connection with this matter The Governor was left no alternative but to nominate two Republicans who were certain not to be confirmed or to make a nomination of a Democrat which the Council would [illegible] He made the attempt and selected Mr Paul who is an undoubted Democrat but not a man of extreme partisan prejudices That may be the reason he was not confirmed but he had the endorsement of the Democracy of Alturas county by his seat in the Council and it would be hard to find in the ranks of the party a man who stands fairer in the estimation of the community The whole affair develops the fact that there exists a more intense hatred between the different factions of the Democratic party than is ever entertained by them towards Republicans The pleasant part of the matter is that the spite the Council had towards each other has delivered them into the hands of the Radicals

[illegible] Kohn & Fishel [illegible] the driving wheels of trade in this city [illegible] for their work is not a monument for the dead, neither the gratification of a luxuriant fancy but it is a new pathway for purchasers a link to bind the chain of families and the hearts of men

NEW TO-DAY.

Caution to the Public.

WHEREAS an application is being made for pardon in the case of the United States vs. E. G. Randall and it is reported that petitions are being circulated for signatures which assume the entire innocence of said Randall and express a belief in the absolute guilt of D. E. Fox.

Mr. Randall stands convicted by the verdict of twelve men who heard all the testimony. Mr. Fox is unconvicted of any offense whatever. We believe this community will not understandingly sign any document assuming the absolute innocence of any one who has been found guilty by a verdict of his countrymen and at the same time [illegible] unjustifiedly assume the guilt of one who is not, [illegible] as is honestly believed—only to gratify a malignant spirit of persecution

This caution is given to the public only in justice to Mr. Fox and not to prejudice the case of Mr. Randall or any other person

INTERNAL REVENUE MATTERS. —The special tenth [illegible] of all persons in [illegible] dealing [illegible] liquors and of drays [illegible] and common carriers is called [illegible] the following provisions of section 19th of the Internal Revenue law of July 20th 1868.

Every person engaged in rectifying spirits and every [illegible] liquor [illegible] shall [illegible] place and keep conspicuously [illegible] of his rectifying establishment [illegible] signs [illegible] and legible letters [illegible] inches in length [illegible] width the names [illegible] the rectifier [illegible] dealer or [illegible] spirits [illegible] liquors, as the case may [illegible] Any person who shall violate any of the [illegible] of this section by negligence or [illegible] shall pay a penalty of five hundred [illegible] special tax [illegible] required by law [illegible] the sign required by this section any sign indicating that he may [illegible] liquor [illegible] shall forfeit and pay [illegible] hundred [illegible] and be imprisoned [illegible] any person [illegible] establishment, wholesale [illegible] dealer of liquors [illegible] shall be placed and kept as heretofore [illegible] knowingly [illegible] spirits [illegible] from any such rectifying establishment [illegible] shall forfeit [illegible] carts drays wagons or other vehicle used [illegible] not less than one hundred dollars [illegible]

ABOUT [illegible] —The [illegible] says Secretary May has taken the very proper precaution to employ a night [illegible] and is determined that the State Treasury shall be [illegible] with every protection necessary for the safety of [illegible] Heavy rains fell on Monday [illegible] are clearing off and [illegible] of the city [illegible] between [illegible] have agreed upon a hunt [illegible] next Friday—the parties being equally [illegible] of scalps. The losing party is to pay the expense of supper for all

SONS OF TEMPERANCE. —A second Division of the order of Sons of Temperance was instituted at Aumsville Marion county on the 23 inst by W R Dunbar, Dep [illegible] W Patrick [illegible] named officers Dr [illegible] Gordon W H [illegible] Dr D M Jones W A Wm [illegible] Harriet T Stage T [illegible] Smith Chap C [illegible] Wilcox O S [illegible] The Division is called Aumsville Division No 2 and starts with [illegible] charter members

[illegible] —Says the Commercial [illegible] In the notice given by one of the morning papers a few days since [illegible] to the proposed erection of an Odd Fellows Hall [illegible] City the name of Mr John Nestor formerly of this city, was omitted as being the designer [illegible] the Oregonian is the morning paper referred to [illegible] we did not [illegible] state that Mr Nestor was the designer; we also omitted to state that his design was drawn [illegible] paper partly with a pen and partly with a pencil. We don't suppose, however that Mr Nestor cares the snap of his finger for the omission

JAM. —The accumulation of flour and grain on the [illegible] wharf together with the crowd of drays engaged in [illegible] away and of coaches and wagons waiting for [illegible] and baggage constituted a tremendous jam [illegible] afternoon through which it was almost impossible for people to squeeze. There were not less than twelve or thirty drays and trucks loaded and in [illegible] during the entire day to transfer their loads to the steamer Ajax There were that many in waiting [illegible] the steamer refused to take any more freight [illegible] CONCERT. —Tomorrow evening Prof [illegible] assisted by several ladies and gentlemen [illegible] a grand vocal and instrumental concert at [illegible] Hall the proceeds to be divided between the Ladies Benevolent society and the Ladies Aid [illegible] of this city. The programme of exercises contains [illegible] performances, mostly instrumental. The concert, aside from the idea of its charitable purpose [illegible] doubtless be an interesting one as the performers are [illegible] of notable talent.

[illegible] AMUSEMENTS. —A couple of female women of [illegible] got into a row Saturday on Second street In [illegible] was demonstrated that the "manly art of self-[illegible] does not belong exclusively to male men One [illegible] got variously punched, scratched, etc. while the [illegible] her apparel badly [illegible] Both of them did [illegible] tall scrimmaging and something in the way [illegible] story demonstration. It is likely their names [illegible] to-day in the Recorder's docket.

LECTURE. —Through accident we failed to announce [illegible] morning that in consequence of the illness of [illegible] Applegate, there would be no lecture at Phil-[illegible] Hall last evening His lecture has been postponed till some future time. The next lecture will be [illegible] as heretofore advertised by Rev Mr Stoy on [illegible] evening Feb 9th Subject: The Empire of Anglo-Saxons

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT—DEADY J —Proceedings of Tuesday [illegible]

[illegible] E Kamb et al vs I A Davenport et al in equity [illegible] taking of testimony concluded and the argument [illegible] begun
Court adjourned till Wednesday

[illegible] —The editor of the Commercial has [illegible] the valley recently and judging from an article [illegible] evening he fell among and had a talk with the [illegible] He cautions people against spiritualism, [illegible] which we infer that his communions with the spirits [illegible] of an amicable nature

FESTIVAL. —The female members of Zion M E [illegible] (colored) of this city are preparing for a festival [illegible] of the church, to be held at the colored [illegible] Alder street between Front and First, on [illegible] February 2d We acknowledge the re[illegible] tary tickets.

[illegible] —Capt Wolff of the Cascade, in[illegible] has arrived yesterday at the portage [illegible] was about one foot deep, but a heavy [illegible] which with a moderate temperature [illegible] it away There was no ice in the [illegible]

[illegible] JOKE. —The St Louis Republican in an edito[illegible] of Gen Gibbs of New York says Addison [illegible] a relative was through the influence of Gen [illegible] Lane, made Governor of Oregon That is the [illegible] joke ever perpetrated on Gov Gibbs

FROM THE UPPER COLUMBIA. —In consequence [illegible] inability of the steamers to navigate the Columbia [illegible] there was no mail or express matter received [illegible] yesterday from any point beyond The Dalles

PROPOSALS. —Mr Amos Harvey Indian Agent [illegible] will receive sealed proposals till to-m[illegible] at the Cos[illegible] for blankets [illegible] dry goods, etc, for his agency

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC. —Under this head a card ap[illegible] this morning in our advertising columns caution[illegible] public in relation to the petition now in circula[illegible] the pard [illegible] Randall

[illegible] —The bark H W Almy Freeman master left [illegible] on Monday for San Francisco carrying about [illegible] hundred tons of flour [illegible] and produce. The Olan [illegible] towed [illegible] Astoria

HONEY [illegible] —The first instalment of [illegible] of interest guaranteed by the city of Portland [illegible] the bonds of the West Side Railroad [illegible] company on Monday

ALARM. —A burning chimney in the New Colum[illegible] created a fire alarm about [illegible] o'clock last eve[illegible] called out the engines Fortunately, there was [illegible] done

[illegible] —For two days and nights a heavy rain has fallen [illegible] constantly The wind last evening was blowing [illegible] from the south—a sure sign of continued rainy [illegible]

[illegible] Woods and family came down from [illegible] yesterday [illegible] route to the Dalles, on a [illegible] they will remain here till to-morrow morning

PORTLAND. —The steamer Continental sailed from [illegible] San Francisco for Portland [illegible] on the 24th The bark [illegible] sailed for Portland on the 23d

[illegible] COMMENCED. —Messrs Goodnough & Clark [illegible] the foundations of their mammoth livery [illegible] on Second street

[illegible] —The steamship Ajax will sail at 4 P M to-[illegible] for San Francisco and the Active at 11 this evening [illegible] Victoria

BACK TO FIRST PRINCIPLES. —It is a curious [illegible] the latest patent for axes presents a [illegible] like that of the chopping implements [illegible] axes found in ancient mounds and [illegible] here The edge is rounded almost to a [illegible] circle Some thirty years ago the edge [illegible] chopping axe was nearly square across [illegible] sharp corners but it was found that the [illegible] did not sink into the wood or expel [illegible] chips as well as on with a round edge [illegible] seems that the modern woodman has [illegible] back to first principles and that the [illegible] barbarian constructed his stone axe [illegible] philosophically after all

[illegible] DONT SEEK OFFICE. —The San Francisco Board of Commissioners gave [illegible] that they would appoint nineteen new [illegible] men and there were 1 217 applications

[illegible] was turned out of one of the district [illegible] in Sutton C[illegible] because he was forty [illegible] years old and had a family including two grown children He said his boys and [illegible] had more learning than he had, and he [illegible] to ketch up with 'em

[illegible] it is claimed will first grant woman [illegible]

General Paragraphs

[illegible]

[illegible] that State by the [illegible] Reynolds. The [illegible] by the white [illegible] Kullux and that more than fifty freedmen were murdered in sixty days The citizens [illegible] The next [illegible] General [illegible] Marshall [illegible] North [illegible]

[illegible]

LOUISIANA MATTERS

A large portion of the Governor's message is devoted to the late election The following paragraph [illegible] In many parishes the late election was the occasion of most disgraceful acts of intimidation culminating, in several instances in scenes of massacre shocking to the sense of civilized men and only finding parallels in the annals of savage warfare These instances of savage cruelty [illegible] tated seem to have been instigated by the hostility [illegible] than classes of the laws of Congress by which the Government has enfranchised the colored population into the body politic and vouchsafed to them equal political and civil rights He states that in reply to applications for the troops, orders were issued which might be construed to mean something in Georgia but which in Louisiana might be said to consist only of words that the so-called orders were made public and served only to inform the lawless that they need have no fear from that quarter and that they could prosecute their anarchical schemes to the limit of their purpose

Mr Murat Halstead says the New York Sun the editor and proprietor of the Cincinnati Commercial, has been in town, for several days lately engaged as befits a man of genius in ardently pursuing the art and science of the velocipede His zeal was splendid and his success great It was charming to see him illustrating the great fundamental principle of Democracy—the triumph of man over his accidents—as with his hands all blistered his ankles sprained his legs twisted and tired his arms nearly wretched from their sockets and perspiration streaming down his invincible features he gallantly dashed about on the new conjured machine at the rate of a mile in three minutes with nothing but an occasional fall to testify that he was an expert of but a few hours standing

Some of the he and she secesh of New York City are much at agony because of the proposed reception to be given to Hiram Powers, the Sculptor in that town The chief count they have against him is that he had the audacity to erase from his visitor's book at Florence the name of some scalawag who signed himself as hailing from the Confederate States of America The poor peoples' like Joey Laddle are worrying over wapors.'

There is no other spoken language so cheap and expressive by telegraph as the English So the electric wires are becoming teachers of our mother tongue in foreign countries The same amount of information can be transmitted in fewer English words than French German Italian, or any other European language In Germany and Holland especially, it is coming to be a common thing to see telegrams in English to save expense and insure precision Thus the red, white and blue the Celtic, Teutonic and Latin elements of our English language will yet make the tour of the globe, and be the silent speech fitted to the flashing lips of lightning as well as the tongue which half of the earth's millions will speak within two centuries of the present time

The Roof of the World is the name of a vast elevated region of table land situated in Central Asia, from which rivers and mountain chains radiate to all points of the compass This district lies to the northwest of British India and touches on the Russian frontier [illegible] Turkestan

THE BEST EVIDENCE OF THE VALUE OF AN article may be found in the fact of its having numerous imitators. Every fine poem has its parodies every meritorious literary work a subject to plagiarisms every successful play has been burlesqued every bank [illegible] has its letterboxes every genuine dollar has been counterfeited and every valuable medicinal preparation has its imitations The proprietors of

have encountered the usual experience in this respect Such has been the success of this sterling preparation that all inferior articles of the kind have virtually been driven from the market [illegible] finding that [illegible] public want and that no further demand exists for [illegible] have resorted to the last most expedient of imitating either the name or the style [illegible] the Stars [illegible] IXL Bitters [illegible] the full extent of the law [illegible] Dr Henley's Wild Grape Root IXL Bitters [illegible]

WINTER BURIALS.—To bury a friend in winter is a kind of trial that connects strange inward emotions of feeling which it is difficult to master. We have cleared away the snow and hewn a passage down through the solid pavement of the frost, and then in that inhospitable place we come to bury our departed, be it child or wife or mother or much loved friend, our heart shudders in conclusive chill at the forlorn last offices we are come to perform. While our feeling is protesting, solemnity so called goes on and before we have gotten our own consent the tribute of respect' is ended. The frozen chips of earth loosened again by blows, are piled on the loved ones rest, and we turn to go. "Will it storm to night? The wind, alas! is howling even now in the trees, and the sleeting is already begun. O God, it shall not be! We are going to be fools, we see, but now the spell is broken. Our departed is not in that hole and we scorn to say our farewell over it. Let the snows fall heavy if they will, and the winds rage pitiless and wild above, ours it shall be to thank Thee, Father, Lord of the Warmer Clime, that our dead one lives with Thee!" Practically, almost nothing will more surely compel a faith in immortality, even if one chances to be unbelieving, than to bury a friend in the winter. And as a matter of fact, it is not in the fresh on[illegible] life of spring, or in another softer season of the year, that we think of immortality with half the tension that we do at the winter funerals. We ask it instinctively, as we do a fire for the cold.—Dr Bushnell.

WOMEN'S LAWS.—Mark Twain says when women frame laws the first thing they do will be to enact:

1. That all men should be at home at ten P. M., without fail.
2. That married men should bestow considerable attention upon their own wives.
3. That it should be a hanging offense to sell whisky in saloons, and that fines and disfranchisement should follow it in such places.
4. That the smoking of cigars to excess should be forbidden, and the smoking of pipes utterly abolished.
5. That the wife should have the title of her own property when she marries a man that hasn't any.

"Such tyranny as this," says Mark, "we could never stand. Our free souls could never endure such degrading thraldom. Women, go away! Seek not to beguile us of our imperial privileges. Content yourselves with your little feminine trifles—your babies, your benevolent societies and your knitting—and let your natural bosses do the voting. Stand back—you will be wanting to go to war next. We will let you teach school as much as you want to, and pay you half price too; but beware! we don't want you to crowd us too much."

FINANCIAL SCHEMES.—A large number of financial [illegible] prepared by [illegible] both Houses. The great burden of them is the best mode of reaching specie payments. If all this effort is [illegible] in a diffuse manner, without any attempt to compare views and agree upon the adequacy of some practical measure, it will certainly come to naught, and this [illegible] will be barren of practical results. If some of the [illegible] members would decide in advance on certain features to be [illegible] in some bill which they could [illegible] to support in their [illegible], some tangible result might be produced. But as there [illegible] so many divi[illegible] among the financial doctors, such a result is not very probable.

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!

IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST WONDERFUL EYE HEALER that has yet been discovered.

It CURES the most stubborn and hopeless cases of CHRONIC INFLAMMATIONS GRANULATED LIDS, FILMS, &c., as has been sufficiently demonstrated during the few [illegible] in which it has been brought into [illegible]. The proprietor is so fully convinced of its INFALLIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE OR REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm, and a trial of it is therefore without injury or expense to the patient if a cure is not effected.

It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN, and even EIGHTEEN YEARS' standing in Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and its vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness:

E. B. MOORE,	NATHANIEL BELL,
A. L. WALLACE,	G. R. WARD,
Mrs. MONTGOMERY,	JOHN M. HOLLOWAY,
W. D. PORTER,	ROB'T RAMSEY,

And others of that vicinity.

Persons afflicted with the distressing scourge of diseased eyes are advised to give this remedy a fair trial on the NO CURE, NO PAY and NO INJURY plan.

CHANGE OF NAME!

MERCADO & CO., SUCCESSORS TO Mercado & Seully, have been obliged for their own protection and the safety of the public to change the name of their celebrated Bitters to

MERCADO'S

Native California Wine BITTERS

We quote the following affidavit in an injunction suit formerly pending between Mercado & Seully, plaintiffs, and G. A. [illegible] defendant.

P. Sainsevain, being duly sworn, says: "That the article known as Sainsevain's California Wine Bitters was manufactured by Mercado & Seully, at our [illegible] of March 1861, without the said Sainsevain Brothers having any concern in the manufacture thereof. This deponent has always known and considered said Mercado & Seully as the Sole Proprietors of the Sainsevain California Wine Bitters."

Notwithstanding the above affidavit the said P. Sainsevain is putting up a compound under the name of Sainsevain's California Wine Bitters, representing it to be the same as our celebrated Bitters which we have been manufacturing and selling in immense quantities since 1860, and also affixing a nearly similar label to that used on our genuine Wine Bitters. BE NOT DECEIVED. Send for

NATIVE CALIFORNIA WINE BITTERS,

And you will obtain the same popular beverage so favorably known since 1860. Beware of Counterfeits! Purchasers of our Wine Bitters are requested to observe the familiar old yellow label and see that the words, "MERCADO & SEULLY, SAN FRANCISCO," are engraved on the Government stamp pasted over the cork of each bottle. This is the only effectual security against the counterfeit imitations.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

Weekly Oregonian.

FOR 1869.

Nineteenth Volume!

Only $3.00 a Year.

By common consent, the OREGONIAN ranks first among the papers published in the Northwest. It is the oldest paper in the State, and its circulation and influence are greater than that of any other two papers combined. As a journal of enterprise in gathering the latest intelligence, and in giving in each issue a larger amount and greater variety of reading matter it has no competitor. It is thoroughly identified with this city and State and neighboring Territories, where the number of its readers and its influence are constantly increasing.

An unflinching advocate of sound Union principles it at the same time pays special attention not only to MATTERS OF GENERAL INTEREST but to every thing of moment to the great

Agricultural, Manufacturing,
AND MINING INTERESTS,

And to the development of the resources and settlement of the Northwest.

Its columns contain a carefully prepared digest of

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF
Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana.

TELEGRAMS FROM

are published as full as in the California journals, and put before our readers from ONE TO THREE DAYS BEFORE ANY OTHER PAPER IN THE STATE.

Among its corps of writers are regular correspondents at New York and Washington City, men who, having lived in this State, are able to write on Eastern affairs, both politically and commercially from an Oregon standpoint.

Its Literary and General Selections are from the best sources.

EXTENDED AND RELIABLE

are furnished every week, giving the Financial, Dry Goods, Hardware, and General Market Reports of Portland, and the latest reports by Telegraph of the San Francisco and New York markets. These reports are acknowledged to be the most accurate published in the State.

In every department it will be, as it has been, the foremost in the State in the field of journalism. Being firmly established, it will go forward with confidence, making new plans for improvement and usefulness, and hopes to gain increased circulation and support.

TERMS:

One Year	$3 00.
Six Months	2 00.
Three Months	1 00.

The WEEKLY OREGONIAN has been a favorite paper for mailing to friends in the East. It will be mailed from the office at subscription rates.

Subscribers will find on each paper, with their names, the date on which their subscriptions expire, as entered on our books. In renewing, the name of subscriber and post office should be distinctly written.

All papers are discontinued at the end of the time for which they have been paid, the date of which is always printed with the name each week.

REMIT BY MAIL AT OUR RISK, in presence of Postmaster, or pay to the nearest authorized agent.

We ask our friends to aid us in extending the circulation of the OREGONIAN in every direction.

Horrible Diseases

How many thousands of persons, both [illegible] male, are there who are suffering out a [illegible] ance from the effects of secret indulgence [illegible] absorbed into the system! Look at their [illegible]ted and disfigured faces and their broken [illegible]tions disqualifying them for the [illegible] or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid [illegible] sands suffer until death closes the [illegible] guardians, friends, attend to those who are [illegible] any of these horrible life-destroying [illegible] they are cared for and cured before it be[illegible] them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, who [illegible] made private disease his especial study for [illegible] is certain to cure the most inveterate cases [illegible] cury or any injurious drugs. It is [illegible] who are afflicted, or to those who are [illegible] welfare of their friends, to be careful of [illegible] tended doctors who infest all cities, [illegible] in curing all diseases in a few days, [illegible] public by using the names of eminent [illegible] Europe and other places. He therefore [illegible] strict inquiry or you may fall into the [illegible] charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of [illegible] solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence [illegible] by the youth of both sexes, is an almost [illegible] producing with unerring certainty, the [illegible] of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by [illegible] ical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, [illegible] the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, [illegible] the rustling of leaves and rattling of chains [illegible] about the loins, weakness of the limbs, [illegible] blighted intellect, loss of confidence, [illegible] proaching strangers, a dislike to form [illegible] a disposition to shun society, loss of [illegible] flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the [illegible] furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, [illegible] sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If not [illegible] not obtained should apply immediately, [illegible] or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and [illegible] entific mode of treating this disease, which never [illegible] effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give [illegible] Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove [illegible] rily to him that he was cured of this complaint by [illegible] of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are [illegible] under any of these fearful maladies, should not [illegible] sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT [illegible] by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating [illegible] toms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from [illegible] curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who will by gross ways [illegible] dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are [illegible] and became [illegible] Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will [illegible] [illegible]
